PROJECTS

Portable Phone Sanitizer Box

Mini Project

- Designed a compact, portable UV sanitizer box to rapidly disinfect mobile phones and small personal items, eliminating Surface pathogens without using liquid chemicals or high heat.
- Utilizes UV-C germicidal irradiation (254 nm wavelength) to penetrate microorganism cell walls and disrupt their DNA/RNA structure—destroying their ability to replicate—paired with a microcontroller-based timer to safely automate exposure cycles and prevent UV leakage.

Automatic Street Light Control System

Mini Project

- Designed an automated lighting controller to toggle street lights based on real-time ambient light levels, eliminating manual operation and optimizing energy usage.
- Utilized an LDR-based potential divider network and comparator/transistor switching to detect daylight changes—trigger the circuit ON at dusk via high LDR resistance and OFF at dawn via low LDR resistance.

CERTIFICATIONS

- Internship in C
- Participation in Hackathon
